

the role of a coaching coordinator

A.K.A - champion of the first line of defence

your manager:	Club president	our values who you manage:	Coaches	Respect + Sportsmanship - Be respectful...No exceptions Effort - Give 100% Teamwork - Whole Club, Whole Team, 24/7
important people to you:	Players + Parents + Coaches + Committee what we are here to do ...

Our goal is to be TEAM FIRST, winning will come as a result. MANY TEAMS – ONE VISION

Be focussed, keen, positive. Be encouraging...No put downs. Go hard...But fair. Represent your club with pride how you contribute to this...

You provide assistance + support to the coaching team to ensure the highest standard of coaching + development is available to the players of the appointed age of competition. You coordinate, educate + evaluate all coaches at training + on match days. You are the conduit between the coaches + the committee.

what needs to be done

- Provide coaches with induction training
- Oversee and/or offer assistance with training drills + skills throughout the year
- Ensure coach's accreditation stays up to date
- Facilitate support + info required for coaches to know the rules of the game
- Assist with the development of training + player development plans
- Recommend new equipment where required
- Liaise with all coaches, providing regular feedback on training and match days
- Advocate for the support of all coaches especially with tough decision making what do we need

- Coaches need to feel they are successful in a meaningful way... not just on the scoreboard.
- Make it fun + worthwhile - arrange BBQ's, pie nights, or other events, encourage + equip mentoring programs with senior teams
- Facilitate education nights etc. for coaches + team age groups as required
- Promote coach attendance at relevant training + professional development sessions

nuts + bolts

AFLQ Brisbane Juniors requires all coaches to complete a specified level of training. Your role is to ensure that the coaches under your supervision complete this requirement as a minimum. You need to stay qualified also!

adding value

Just because we have always done it that way, doesn't mean we have to keep doing it...bring something to the table! We want our coaches to be the best. What steps can we take to ensure they get there?
